ONE OF PALMER'S ORDERS. Sought to Disfranchise All Former Confederate Soldiers.

FRANKFORT. KY., September 7 .-General Palmer, the National Democratic nominee for President, was military Governor of Kentucky in 1865. Just before the August election of that year he issued an order, which, if it could have been enforced, would have practically disfranchised nearly every Democrat or southern sympathizer in the State. Divested of preambje, ft reads:

1. All rebel soldiers, whether pardoned or not, and without regard to the fact that they have or have not taken any of the oaths as prescribed by law, or executive or military orders, or have registered under orders from headquarters of the Department of Kentucky.

"2. All guerrillas and others, who, without belonging to the regular rebel military organizations, have taken up arms against the government, or have in any way operated against the government or péople of Kentucky, or any other State 3. All persons who, by act or word,

"3. All persons who, by act or word, directly, or indirectly, gave aid, comfort, or encouragement to persons in rebellion. This applies to all persons who have voluntarily acted as scouts or spies for rebel or guerrilla forces, who have voluntarily furnished any rebel with food or ciothing, horse or arms or money, or have harbored, concealed, or otherwise added or encouraged them.

"4. All persons who were or have been directly or indirectly engaged in the civil service of the late so-called Provisional Government of Kentucky, or who have in any way submitted to either of visional Government of Kentucky, or who have in any way submitted to either of said pretended governments, all agents of or contractors with or for either of said pretended governments are disqualified from voting.

LET THE TIMES ANSWER.

The Richmond Times of yesterday rises to disclaim any intention of aspersing the personal character of Senator John W. Daniel, and to defend Mr. M. E. Ingalls, president of the Chesapeake and Ohio illway, and champion his cause against the great mass of the people of Virginia. Before it gets through the Times be comes badly rattled, loses its temper, and uses some rather naughty words. But we let these pass as the somewhat natural buzzing resulting from the "bumblebee" state the Times has gotten itself into. As to the Times's disclaimer with reference to Senator Daniel, we accept it. but would say that that disclaimer proves that our contemporary was very unfortunate in its use of language, and its logic when it undertook to comment upon the Senator's Danville speech. Also, that all who read those comments will agree that the legitimate conclusion was the Times classed Senator Daniel with ballot-box stuffers. And, by the same token, all who read the Times's article of yesterday, in answer to the Dispatch's criticism of its reference to the senior Virginia senator, will, we think, ndicate Mr. M. E. Ingails than to put itself right regarding the Senator, However, what riled the Times most was the statement of the Dispatch that 'so anxious was the Times to join Mr. Ingalls and the other South-haters in their denunciation of our people that it has words of condemnation only for Virginia Democrats, and nothing but praise for its Republican ailies." The Times indignantly denies that Mr. Ingalls is a South-hater, and that it should be ed with the South-haters. We can only judge men and papers by the company they keep and the doctrines and causes they espouse. Mr. Ingalls is an avowed advocate of McKinley, a dyedin-the-wool Republican and champion of torce-bill legislation, and the Times peecs as the advocate and champion of Mr. Ingalis. Does the Times deny that the Republican party is a party of South-tairs? We lot it speak on that point dis, the Republican party, Times's present association mations be judged. On June 30, 1892, the following appeared in the editorial columns of the Times, and was continued therein until

July 15th, inclusive: July 15th, inclusive:

"If the Republicans are returned to power in November, they will pass a bill to control elections in the South by bayonets and bludgeons, and to restore negro supremacy, and svery vote not cast for the Democratic ticket is a vote directly or indirectly for Republicanism and southern degradation. Every white man in the South should paste this in his hat." Again, on July 14, 1892, the Times said:

Again, on July 14, 1892, the Times said:

"But is there a single sensible white man, be he farmer or be he anythins else, in the South who does not know with absolute certainty that there is no possible chance for the success of any third party this year, and that if the Democrais do not win, the Republicans will? There is not one who, if he will express his honert convictions, will not admit this to be true. What, then, is to be gained by a third-party vote in the South? Nothing but to give help, aid, and assistance to those bitter enemies of the South—the Republicans."

"It is incredible, therefore, that any Southern State should be so madly blinded to its own interest as to go against the Democracy. In this fight there can only be two parties—one the Democratic; the be two parties—one the Democratic; the other the Republican—and whoever is not for the one is for the other. Let every southern white voter remember this, and reflect on what Democratic defeat would mean to him."

Is there any difference between "bitter enemies of the South" and South-haters? If so, we fail to see it. Is not the Republican party of to-day the same old Republican party it was three years ago? But the Times did stop here. With a zeal worthy of the cause in which it was then engaged, it continued its fight against the South-haters from day to day, and on August 5, 1892, broke forth as follows:

August 5, 1822, broke forth as follows:
"The Third-party people are very fond of alluding to the Democratic party as the 'so-called Democracy.' It is the same old party that it was when Virginia was suffering from the horrors of reconstruction, and which stood by her, and all the South, when Ben. Butler and Ben. Harrison both were so anxious to and all the South, when Ben. Butler and Ben. Harrison both were so anxious to fasten upon her the chains of bayonet rule and negro domination. It is also the same old party which has always championed the cause of the people against oppression and monopoly, and which has always opposed any newfangled will-o'-the-wisp which has shown itself to lure the people to their own destruction." wn destruction.

Who, we ask, has been more prominent than Ben. Harrison in furthering the cause of McKinley and the Republican party, which is now being upheld in Virginia by Mr. Ingalls, assisted by the Times? And being upheld, too, by the use of Mr. Ingalls's power and influence as the president of a great rallway corporation; by methods which the Times, on December 26, 1893, denounced in these an interference of their own motion, every Virginian in their employment should have resisted it to the point of resigning his office before executing such orders. In any event, the sooner the public mind is assured of the severance of raffroads, as a distinct and active interest, from our political management, the better for the railroads—and we most expective wish them all due and lawful carnestly wish them all due and lawfu We also wish the railroads prosperity, but not at the expense of making poli tical slaves of their employees, and fastening upon Virginia "the chains of bayonet rule and negro domination.'

In concluding its defence of Mr. Ingalls, the Times makes a detour, in order to charge the silverites with a purpose to as we have said again and again, and as a careful reading of the Chicago platform will show, nothing in that declaration of principles to warrant any such Yet, as the Times has constituted itself one of the lord high protec teresting to the public to know what it thought of that tribunal in April, 1892. Here is, in part, its opinion of the court

"We repeat, then, that, paradoxical as it may appear, the Supreme Court of the United States is the fountain-head of Socialists of the United States, and unless the pernicious doctrine that it has put out can be overthrown, it threatens to become a foundation upon which the Socialists will erect a structure that will overthrow all our institutions and bring tyranny upon us."

We respectfully submit that this goes further in criticising the Supreme Court than does the Chicago platform or any man that was connected with the drafting of that platform.

One word more: After assuring the Times that it cannot be more earnest than are we in the purpose to avoid personality and the engendering of bitterness in this campaign, and that we are determined that, so far as we are concerned, the canvass shall be a clean one, we would ask it these questions: Is not the Times in this contest fighting to defeat William Jennings Bryan, the national Democratic candidate for the presidency, and does the Times not know that Bryan's defeat could result in the election of William McKinley, a South-hater, and a Republican?

Let it answer to the point and without circumiocution.

M'KINLEY SIZES THEM UP. McKinley evidently knows his friends when he sees them. Last week the Republican Editorial Association of Ohio called on him at his home. In his address to them he had this to say of the bolter newspapers, "supporting the Republican

Fortunately, in this contest the Republican party is not alone in its support of the Republican cause. Conservative men the Republican cause. Conservative men-of all parties stand with it. It numbers among its strongest allies many of the most powerful Democratic newspapers, East and West, which are doing yeoman services for patriotism and national

The Major has sized them up exactly. They are supporting the Republican cause, and deserve his favorable notice.

WORTHY OF IMITATION.

A Democratic county chairman in Virginia a few days ago received the letter which we print below. The writer is a man of small means, and his contribution is a very large part of his yearly earn-

"Enclosed find two checks, amounting to $25, my voluntary contribution to the campaign fund. If needed later on, I am ready to duplicate it. * * They, the people, are gathering under old Democracy's banner. All we need is plenty of light on the subject, and we will win."

If the above spirit were general among the Democrats of Virginia there would be funds enough in the hands of the State Committee to cover Virginia with campaign literature like a snow-storm.

Spain, in her old age—when was it that the was not old?—finds her days full of rouble. Once almost mistress of the world, her decrepitude and poverty have invited an uprising of her children against Cuba, to whom she has been cruel and exacting stepmother, has almost shaken off her yoke, and now her children in the Phillippine Islands have revolted. Why she has held them for four hundred years can only be explained by Spanish pride. They have been as worthless to her, in point of revenue, as sage-brush farm. They have not been hers, in point of population, for many years, for the immigration of Chinese and Japanese has long ago outnumbere the Spanish population, which is yearly growing less-though never numerous The Islands have long been a monumental illustration of the colonizing ambition that prevailed in Europe when nation set up new dependencies without stocking them with a sufficient number of human beings. A flag planted on the shore, a schooner-load of people landed, and the colony was left to work out its own salvation with but little help from the home government, and that grudgingly given What Spain wanted with the Phillippine Islands she has, perhaps, known as little as the colonists knew what use they had for Spain. If she loses the Islands the old grandee will not lose much, but it is pathetic to see a once great nation strip-

There is a perious lack of accommodation for children entitled to common school education in New York city, and some of the parents there, it is said, will seek, by means of mandamus proceedings, to compel action on the part of the authorities looking to provision of the necessary facilities. It is difficult to keep up in any way with the growth of population in our great cities.

It is amusing for anybody to talk as if he were surprised at the results of the recent elections in the States of Vermont and Maine. Vermont has for many years been known as "the star that never sets." In the days of the old Whig party the same saying was used every year in speaking of Vermont. She never set then, as she never sets now.

Scratch a Democratic bolter, and you will find a McKinleyite, with all that the latter term implies.

MR. HAYDON REPLIED.

Case of Reckoning Without One's

Mr. Raleigh F. Haydon, of Irvington, has written the subjoined open letter in reply to a communication he received from Mr. Harvey L. Wilson, secretary of the State Committee of the Bolters party, in which Mr. Wilson sets forth that he (Wilson) had been informed that Mr. Haydon was an advocate of sound Democracy and sound money, and would not support the Populistic platform of hicago, but rather would lend his aid to the maintenance of Democratic principles as enunciated at Indianapolis. The Wil-son letter further stated that if this in-formation was true, he would be glad to furnish literature to Mr. Haydon and such of his friends as desired it. THE OPEN LETTER.

Irvington, Va., September 14, 1896. Hon. Harvey L. Wilson, Richmond, Va.: Sir,-In reply to yours of the 5th in-stant, duly received. I beg to say that, though at first opposed to the free and unlimited coinage of silver by our gov-ernment, I have never believed that the unlimited coinage of silver by our government, I have never believed that the adoption of such a policy would mean absolute starvation, as the advocates of "sound money" predict. During more than four years which I recently spent in a depreciated silver-basis country, I noticed that the people generally, and the laboring class in particular, as compared with their peers here, lived and dressed as well, if not better; lingled as much money in their pockets, if not more; worked as little, much less, indeed, and spent much more for the pleasures and frivolties of this life, and this, too, in the face of the fact that nearly all of the prime necessaries of life were imported and paid for in gold. I noticed, furthermore, that money was more evenly divided; that "cornering" was unknown, and that, therefore, millionalres were not made in a day. I do not mean to say that that country was a financial paradise, but it was certainly the equal, if not the superior, of this in the earning of money by labor; hence, my opposition to free coinage of silver was not based upon the fear that thereby this nation would be reduced to beggary.

In the first place, the American dollar of to-day is looked up to all over the world, which is a cause for pride; secondly, I feared that so radical a change in world, which is a cause for pride; second-ly. I feared that so radical a change in our financial system would produce a revolution, whose results I could not fore-see, and, thridly, that our government alone could not consistently undertake to enhance the value of sliver without a careful research give me not the slightest cause to believe that its adoption will be of any disadvantage to our prosperity.

Besides, sir, I have always co-operated with the Democratic party, the triumph of which, especially in this section, I consider absolutely essential to our happiness and well-being. Neither will I argue this; suffice it for me that, in my opinion, it is true, and that the defeat of Pryan means the victory of McKinley. I cannot believe that even you entertain any hope that Palmer will be elected, or that Democratic votes received for him will benefit any one but McKinley.

I took part in the primaries here, as I usually do, and voted against the free-silver movement, but I was in the sad minority, and gentlemen as true and tried as I am, as intelligent as I am, and possessed of as high sense of honor as I am, were fairly and regularly elected to represent the Democracy of this county in the State convention. I know there was no irregularity here, nor have I heard of any either at Staunton of Chicago—nothing in the wide world to "kick" about, except that the minority could not rule! Is this a justifiable cause for the position of the faction which you represent? No. I assure you, in all kindness and brotherly love, that you are wrong. It is every man's right to withdraw from a convention when measures are adopted by that convention to which he cannot reconcile his principles, but in doing so he forfeits his right to a place in the councils of the party, of which that convention is the duly constructed exponent, I commend every man for upholding his honest principles, but let him do so without arrogance, and openly, and let him consider well whether there may not be something good and true in a policy in which a large majority of his brethren, of equal honesty and intelligence, find perfect satisfaction.

No, sir. Should I desert the Democratic party at this time, I would openly get in the ring of McKinleyism, force-billism, and other like isms which we do not need, rather than contribute to the circus in the way of a side show.

Respectfully,

RAUEIGH F. HAYDON.

JEWISH DAY OF ATONEMENT. Services of an Impressive Character

at the Synagogue. Yesterday on the Jewish caler the most sacred of all Hebrew festivals, it being Yom Kippur, or the Day of Atonement. This religious festival com-menced Wednesday evening at 6 o'clock Atonement. This religious festival commenced Wednesday evening at 6 o'clock and lasted until the same hour last evening. The observance of the "Sabbath of Sabbaths" consists not only in religious worship, but absolute fasting.

The sermon of Rabbi E. N. Calisch at Beth Ahaba Wednesday night was appropriate to the season, the subject being: "Atonement-Day, an Institution Peculiar to Judaism." The discourse was a masterly one, and was listened to by a large congregation.

Services began at Beth Ahaba at 10 o'clock yesterday morning, and lasted until shortly after 6 o'clock last evening. Mr. E. Bottighelmer officiased at the first service yesterday, and this was followed by the solemn ceremony of taking out, reading from, and replacing the sacred scrolls by Dr. Calisch. The new ritual was then sung by the choir.

At the noon service Dr. Calisch preached another excellent sermon, his subject being, "Some Things to Think Over." The afternoon service was conducted by Mr. Bottighelmer.

The most impressive service of the day was the memorial service conducted by Dr. Calisch at 4 o'clock. It is called "Almarachum," and is regarded as a substitute for the old sacrifices of meat offerings by fire. Dr. Calisch offered a prayer for the dead, and an offering was taken up. The closing service was begun at 5 o'clock, and lasted until shortly after 6 o'clock, when all repaired to their homes to enjoy a sumptuous feast after a fast of twenty-four hours. The attendance at all the services yesterday was large, the Synagogue being crowded the entire day. The singing of the choir was impressive and beautiful.

At the Synagogue on Mayo street the services were almost identical with that of the Biblical days.

SUIT AGAINST THE SOUTHERN. F. B. Hobson Asks $10,000 Damages

for Injuries-Other Court News. Late last evening Mr. Allen G. Collins as counsel for Fred. B. Hobson, filed in the Law and Equity Court a mem the Law and Eduly Cont and the Law and Eduly Company, praying $10,000 damages for personal injuries alleged to have been sustained by the plaintiff some months ago. While the bill in the suit has not yet been prepared, it is understood that Hobson was hurt in Manchester by one of the trains of the Southern.

J. B. Wood brought suit in this court yesterday against Martha E, and A. M. Scott for $250 damages.

Judgments were obtained yesterday as follows: Vetterlein Brothers against C. C. Rady, $105; William Demuth & Co. against the same, $250.38.

Paolo Maschle was admitted to citizenship in this court yesterday.

In the City Circuit Court yesterday suits were brought by Oscar Cranz & Co. against J. H. Blumelink for $159.29; Oscar Cranz & Co. against Sol. Weill for $115.84. dum of a suit against the Southern Rail

Corinne at the Academy To-Night. Since the death of Mrs. Jennie Kimbal the Corinne Extravaganza Company ha Since the death of Sirs. Jenne Rams has passed into new hands, and many sweeping changes have been made this season. The play has been entirely rewritten, and the scenery and costumes have been renovated. The company has been entirely reorganized, and with the exception of little Corinne, not a single member of the old company remains.

"Hendrick Hudson, Ir.," is a bright story, eleverly conceived and executed, and it is said that the changes that have been made this season have had the effect of making the play even stronger and better than formerly.

The cast includes none but well-known people, and some of them are in the front rank of vaudeville artists.

The company will be here to-night, and for two performances to-morrow.

Doings of the County Court.

Doings of the County Court.

The Henrico County Court was in session a short while yesterday, during which time Wille Freeman (colored) was tried and convicted for burglarizing an old house, the property of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Company, and stealing therefrom a lot of apparel. He was fined $\S$ and given nine months in jail.

Mr. Ardie Mayo was on trial in the afternoon before 'Squires Vincent, Nelson, and Tyler for keeping a disorderly house, selling liquor to minors, and selling liquor on Sunday. He was fined $10 and costs, aggregating about $60. Messrs, William Justis and William H. Beveridge were the prosecuting attorneys, while Mr. Harry Smith represented Mr. Mayo.

NO FAITH CURE

They Care Stomnch Troubles and Indigestion Anyway, Whether You Have Faith in Them or Not.

TABLETS.

Mere faith will not digest your food for you; will not give you an appetite; will not increase your flesh and strengthen your nerves and heart, but Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will do these things, because they are composed of the elements of digestion—they contain the juices, acids, and peptones meressary to the digestion and assimilation of all wholesome food.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest food if placed in a jar or bottle in water, heated to 38 degrees, and they will do it much more effectively when taken into the stomach after meals, whether you have faith that they will or not.

They invigorate the stomach, make pure blood, and strong nerves, in the onig way that nature can do it, and that is, from plenty of wholesome food well digested. It is not what we eat, but what we digest, that does us good.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold by nearly all druggists at 50 cents for full-sized package, or by mail from the Stuart Company, Marshall, Mich.
